

Live on the island: Local Analysis

When filling in this questionnaire have in mind that answers will be used to fine-tune the training program.

The main purpose of project Live on the island is to improve the skills and competence of youth workers, social and environmental operators, operating in the particular contexts of the islands and improve the quality of their work connected with the sustainability of the reference territories, projects and initiatives on the islands and increase the impact of the actions of the organizations involved.

The project aims to improve the skills of partner organizations, their staff and youth and environmental operators active on the islands and in particular:

- will strengthen the general knowledge and theoretical and practical skills of operators on environmental and sustainable development issues;
- provide them with study bases to understand the specific context of the island and its weaknesses;
- will indicate environmental monitoring strategies aimed at understanding the transformations of the territory and the critical issues;
- will experiment with non-formal education methodologies useful for involving young people;
- will increase the capacity of organizations to carry out actions and initiatives, the quality of the proposed activities, the impact on the territory and on the community, in the direction of greater sensitivity, information and aware behavior;
- will identify practical tools to be applied in individual contexts in order to act autonomously and to be able to direct local policies towards environmental protection issues;
- increase the capacity of organizations to collaborate with partners on an intercontinental level with reference to common theories and practices.
